- AND WHEREAS Guillain-Barré Syndrome (GBS) and its variants, are rare conditions which can be characterized by rapid onset of weakness and, often, paralysis of the legs, arms, breathing muscles and face, in some cases leading to complete paralysis and requiring life-sustaining hospital care. Often accompanied with excruciating pain;
- AND WHEREAS Chronic Inflammatory Demyelinating Polyneuropathy (CIDP) and its variants, are rare progressive conditions, which can be characterized by the onset of weakness, numbness and tingling, which can lead to the paralysis of the legs and arms and effect other areas of the body, and it is not uncommon for individuals to endure significant pain;
- AND WHEREAS the cause of GBS and CIDP is unknown, and these conditions can develop in any person, regardless of age, gender or ethnic background;
